

BABIES FACE JURY TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Five Prizes for Children and Two for Mothers.

CONTEST CREATES PUBLIC INTEREST

Time for Making Entries Drawing to Close, So Parents Should Hurry.

Prizes Offered; Contest Rules

Prizes awarded 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Luna Park. Contestants—Any baby of Washington and vicinity. First prize—Prettiest baby, a go-cart. Second prize—Fattest baby, pair solid gold pins. Third prize—Cutest baby, solid gold ring. Fourth prize—Smallest baby, embroidered sack. Fifth prize—Best dressed baby, a parasol. Sixth prize—Prettiest mother, pearl and amethyst bar pin. Seventh prize—Youngest mother, belt. Entries may be made up to Tuesday afternoon by filing notice of entry with Charles J. Goodfellow, manager, Luna Park. Judges will make decision at 2:30 p. m. Babies should be on hand before that hour.

The babies are coming into their own. Let all the judges bend the knee.

Just about a week ago it was announced that there would be a baby show at Luna Park next Tuesday afternoon, and admiring parents were asked to send in the names of prospective little candidates to Manager Charles J. Goodfellow at the resort, being assured that the progress of the contest would be noted in The Washington Times from day to day.

From that moment Mr. Goodfellow, judging by his mail, became the most popular man in Washington, and he has been amazed by the interest shown by a baby-loving public. Pretty babies, fat babies, cute babies, cunning babies, babies of every description have cooed their pleasure as papa and mamma mailed the notification that the pet of that individual household would be in the race.

Time to Hurry Entries.

But the contest is drawing to a close, and those who have neglected to enter the king or queen of their household lose no time in doing so. If the baby had had his way the entry would have been in long ago.

Manager Goodfellow will hold the polls open just as long as possible, but Tuesday afternoon the judges will begin to move about among the chubby, smiling little ones, and at 2:30 seven mothers' hearts are going to be made happy. There are five prizes for the babies, and two for the mothers.

REVIVAL RAIDED; ELEVEN ARRESTED

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 27.—All-night revival services will not be tolerated in Buffalo under an edict just issued by Police Superintendent Regan. At 3 o'clock in the morning, in compliance with this order, the police raided a revival tent on Broadway, and arrested four white men, two white, and five negro women, who were holding an all-night service there. A man who was supposed to be in a trance came to at sight of the police, and attempted to escape.

When the prisoners were arraigned in court some of them prayed out loud while their records were being taken. They asked for a jury trial, and bail was furnished by Nate Penton, who also provided breakfast for the revivalists when he learned that hoodlums had carried away their tent after their arrest.

HOLIDAY IS DECLARED.

Dispatches have been received at the State Department from Costa Rica announcing that May 25, on which day the Central American Court of Justice was inaugurated at Cartago, has been made a national holiday to commemorate that event. The court is one of the results of the pan-American conference in Washington last winter.

ECLIPSE OF SUN IS VISIBLE TODAY

Washingtonians Will See
Old Sol Slip Behind Shadow.

An annular eclipse of the sun, partially visible in Washington from 9:27 a. m. until 12:41 p. m. today, will break into the Sunday morning nap of many a curious Washingtonian, and the astronomers say the sacrifice will be worth while. The sun will be in total eclipse in Mexico and directly eastward over the southern portion of the continent to the Florida coast.

In addition to the performance on the part of our two leading luminaries, the sun and the moon, during these hours, astronomers will await with interest the sketch introduced by a quintet of our most cherished stellar neighbors after sunset tonight.

This evening Jupiter, Mercury, Mars, Neptune, and Venus will be seen grouped in the part of our two leading luminaries, the sun and the moon, during these hours, astronomers will await with interest the sketch introduced by a quintet of our most cherished stellar neighbors after sunset tonight.

The annular eclipse of the sun will pass over or very near Mexico City, Tampa, Fla., and the Bermuda Islands; it then crosses the Atlantic ocean and terminates in western Africa.

The eclipse promises to be an event for Mexico, this being the first total eclipse for portions of that country for ten years. The eclipse is an annual affair, coming each year at different periods and exhibiting varying degrees of totality as affecting different portions of the continent.

Arcturus Visible.

During the time the sun is in partial eclipse here today Washington astronomers say that it will be possible to see the star Arcturus, the star being visible to observers in all parts of the world. Also, other the day will be busy for those who delight in viewing the heavens through a telescope, as well as those who will perch upon the roof with a piece of smoked glass this morning and view the sun with curious rather than critical eyes. To Washingtonians, it is explained that the sun will appear like a round cake with about a third eaten away from the off side.

WOMEN WANT WATER TO CHRISTEN SHIPS

A petition to the President of the United States was received by the Navy Department yesterday to which it was referred, praying that the cause of righteousness and morality be promoted by using water instead of wine in the christening of the battleships North Dakota.

It was signed by twenty-three women of that State. The North Dakota is building in Massachusetts, and will not be launched until next fall, by which time an answer will be prepared to the petition.

EXTERMINATING WAR PLAN OF THE DUTCH

Thirty-four-Year Struggle With Sumatra Savages to End in Great Slaughter.

THE HAGUE, June 27.—Convinced that only a wholesale slaughter of the natives will end the war that the Dutch have been waging intermittently for thirty-four years against the Acheenes in North and West Sumatra, the states general has ordered Colonel Swart to surrender temporarily his governorship of the island of Celebes in the Malay archipelago, hasten to Aceh and establish order at any cost.

Practically unknown to the world fighting has gone on in the island almost uninterruptedly for more than a third of a century.

Governor Van Deursen's recent surrender of the command on the ground he was sick of the hopeless warfare brought the matter sharply to the states general's attention. Governor Van Hentz, who suppressed rebel activity for a few months eleven years ago, was called on for a report. His reply is known to have landed the Dutch colonial policy with small ceremony. He attributes the trouble to niggardliness.

The Dutch, unable, owing to their numerical inferiority, to hold prisoners, have killed the natives that fell into the hands of the Dutch column. Rifle bullets have been hacked with knives to make them inflict more terrible wounds. While approving these repressive measures, Governor Van Hentz remarks that unless carried out thoroughly they are worse than nothing.

OFFICIALS REFUSE MONEY TO PENNSY

Declare That New Union Station Is Not Yet "Ready for Occupancy."

The Commissioners have again refused to grant the request of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company that they affix their signatures to the certificate authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay to the company the sum of $1,500,000, which is claimed under the act providing for the erection of the new Union Station and the elimination of grade crossings.

The payment of the certificate hinges upon the term "ready for occupancy." The act specifies that this sum shall be paid the company upon its surrender of its occupancy of the Mall, and when the new Union Station and tracks are "ready for occupancy."

The Commissioners hold, however, that while the station is "ready for occupancy," the connecting lines of railroad are not, because of the fact that the station in South Washington has not been built, the New Jersey avenue bridge has not been constructed, and the last of the grade crossings have not been removed.

The matter was the subject of a hearing before the Commissioners several weeks ago.

DEATHS IN ISLANDS TO BE INVESTIGATED

A dispatch was received at the Insular Bureau today from Governor Smith, of the Philippines, announcing that an investigation will be made of the reported murder of H. D. Everett and D. R. Wheatley, who are said to have been killed by Negritos recently.

The only information of the murder now on hand is that it occurred in the southern portion of the Island of Negros.

WANT ARMY DELEGATE.

Efforts are being made by the Esperantists of America to persuade President Roosevelt to appoint an officer of the army as an official representative to the international congress which is to be held at Dresden, next August. Not the least of those behind this suggestion is Major General Wood, recently assigned to the Philippines.

COLLECTOR SEEKS LINCOLN RELICS

Captain Oldroyd Admits
He's Had an Offer From Millionaire.

DOES NOT DENY IT'S J. P. MORGAN

Will Not Set Value on Collection,
Which Is the Finest in the Country.

Eager to acquire as many as possible of the memorials connected with the life of President Lincoln, a New York collector, a well-known multi-millionaire of that city, is negotiating for the purchase of the Lincoln Memorial collection, which is now located in the house where Lincoln died, 516 Tenth street northwest, and owned by Capt. Osborne H. Oldroyd.

While Captain Oldroyd admitted yesterday that he had been approached by an agent of the collector, and asked to set a price on his famous collection, he would not divulge the prospective purchaser's name. He said, however, that the man was a multi-millionaire, and his agent had informed him that he sought the collection for the purpose of adding it to his museum.

Declines to Talk.

Mr. Oldroyd was reluctant to discuss the matter, and would not say whether he would dispose of the collection. He said he had made one condition in the beginning, and that was that the collection, the accumulation of which had been his life's work, should not be separated. Asked if the intent of the New York man was to bestow it on some public museum, he said that he understood the man wanted it for his private collection.

J. P. Morgan has an extensive private collection in New York, but Mr. Oldroyd declined either to affirm or deny that he was the man seeking the memorials, declaring that the field could soon be narrowed down by such a process to one man, and that he was not at liberty to discuss the matter at all.

Congress Bought House.

In 1896, purchased the house in which Lincoln died, after he was shot by John Wilkes Booth in Ford's Theater across Tenth street, and has allowed the owner of the collection his rent free. Thirty thousand dollars was the price paid for it. The purchase of the collection, the most complete in existence, by the Government, and its retention in the old house, has been discussed many times, but has never been brought before Congress in the form of a bill.

Mr. Oldroyd, who is now quite old, keeps a personal watch over the collection, and during the years he has had it in Washington, thousands of tourists have visited it.

The collection fills the entire first floor of the house, including the room in which Lincoln passed away. The room is in the same condition as it was then.

WAGON UMBRELLA TAKES MAN IN AIR

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 27.—In a terrific wind storm James Gould was suddenly whirled into the air, a big storm umbrella fastened to the seat of his wagon acting as a balloon. When the umbrella, after traveling a half block, collapsed, Gould fell to the ground and was seriously injured.

Before the storm occurred Gould was on the seat of the conveyance preparing to deliver goods. The umbrella was screwed on to the seat. The wind inflated the umbrella, which tore the seat loose from the wagon and shot high in the air before Gould realized what had occurred.
